*The Company completed the acquisition and cancellation of 108,000 Class A shares on June 21, 2019. The figures for the net income per share are calculated considering the effect of this transaction.

2. Reasons for the revision

The Company has revised the forecast for net sales for the year ending March 31, 2020, from the forecast originally announced on May 9, 2019. The reasons for the revision are based on slower recovery in device business demands than expected and in regard with the situation of parts bottleneck.

The Company maintains its forecast for operating profit and profit attributable to owners of parent, given the Company’s strategy to put a priority on securing profit above sales.

As it is difficult to evaluate the impact of the new coronavirus on the financial results, the Company has not reflected the impact in this forecast. The Company will make an announcement once any events requiring disclosure occurs.

Note: The aforementioned forecasts of financial results are based on information available and deemed reasonable to the Sharp Group at the time of announcement and are not commitments made by the Company. Actual operating results may differ materially from the forecast due to various factors. The factors that may influence the figures for final reported business results include, but are not limited to:

- The economic situation in which the Company and its group companies operates;
- Sudden, rapid fluctuations in demand for the Company's products and services, as well as intense price competition;
- Changes in exchange rates (particularly between the Japanese yen and the U.S. dollar, the euro and other currencies);
- Regulations such as trade restrictions in other countries;
- The progress of collaborations and alliances with other companies;
- Litigation and other legal proceedings against the Company;
- Rapid technological changes in products and services.
